It's also the title and theme of Julia Alvarez's new book, an intriguing and engrossing novel. Everyone in Alma Huebner's circle - her husband and best friend - is engaged in working to save the world, or at least make it a better place in their spheres of influence. Her best friend is a political activist.

Alvarez. 1. The two stories in this novel—Alma Huebner's contemporary story and Isabel Sendales y Gómez's nineteenth-century story—are narrated from strikingly different points of view. Alma's is told in third person (she did this, she thought that). Isabel's is told in first person (I did this, I thought that).
